GAMBLING LAW

of 19 November 2009

Chapter 1

General provisions

Article 1. 1. The Law sets forth the terms and conditions of organising as well as the principles of conducting the activity in this scope and the rules of taxation on gambling games, hereinafter referred to as the “gambling tax”.

2. Gambling games include games of chance, betting, card games and games on gaming machines.

Article 2. 1. Games of chance shall be games, including those arranged online, where the prize is either cash or a material prize and where the result depends primarily on chance. Games of chance shall be:

- 1) number games – the games where the prize is won by selecting correct numbers, signs or other marks and where the prize level depends on the total stakes paid as well as a keno game where the prize is won by selecting correct numbers and where the prize is the product of the stakes paid and the multiplier defined for individual pay tables;
- 2) cash lotteries where participation is conditional upon purchasing a lottery coupon or other game ticket and where the entity organising the lottery offers cash prizes only;
- 3) telebingo where participation is conditional upon purchasing a game ticket listing random sets of numbers or signs from a predefined set of numbers or signs; telebingo is a nationwide game where the drawing of lots is broadcast on television and the entity organising the lottery offers cash or material prizes;

- 4) cylindrical games where participation is conditional upon choosing numbers, signs or other marks and where the prize depends on the predefined stake-to-winnings ratio with the result determined by means of a rotary device; or cylindrical games arranged online under the same rules;
 - 5) (repealed)
 - 6) dice games;
 - 7) cash bingo where participation is conditional upon purchasing random sets of numbers from a predefined set of numbers and where the entity organising the game offers cash prizes only, the level of which depends on the total stakes paid;
 - 8) raffle bingo where participation is conditional upon purchasing random sets of numbers from a predefined set of numbers and where the entity organising the game offers material prizes only;
 - 9) raffle lotteries where participation is conditional upon purchasing a lottery coupon or other game ticket and where the entity organising the lottery offers material prizes only;
 - 10) promotion lotteries where participation is conditional upon purchasing goods, services or other game ticket, whereby participation in the lottery is free and where the entity organising the game offers cash or material prizes;
 - 11) audiotele lotteries where participation is conditional upon payable:
 - a) telephone connection,
 - b) short text messaging via the public telecommunications network.
2. Betting shall be betting for cash or material prizes determined by guessing:
- 1) the results of a sports competition in which competitors are people or animals and where the participants pay stakes, while the prize depends on the total amount of stakes paid – sweepstake systems;
 - 2) the occurrence of different events, including virtual events, where participants pay stakes and where the prize level depends on the stake-to-winnings ratio agreed between the bookmaker and the stake payer – bookmaking services.

2a. Virtual events shall be computer-generated events related to sports competition of people or animals.

3. Games on gaming machines shall be games of chance that are played with the use of mechanical, electromechanical or electronic devices, including computer hardware and games corresponding to the rules of games on gaming machines arranged via Internet, where the prizes are either cash or material prizes and where the game contains an element of a chance.

4. A material prize in games on gaming machines shall be also a prize whereby the game can be continued without the need to pay the stake to participate in the game, or an option to start a new game by using the prize won in the previous game.

5. Games on gaming machines shall be also games of chance that are played with the use of mechanical, electromechanical or electronic devices, including computer hardware and games corresponding to the rules of games on gaming machines arranged via Internet for commercial purposes, in which a player has no possibility to win cash or material prizes but the game has features of a chance.

5a. Card games include black jack, poker and baccarat, as long as they are played in order to win cash or material prizes.

6. The minister competent for public finance shall resolve, by way of a decision, on request or on an ex officio basis, whether a given game or betting demonstrating the features referred to in sections 1 through 5a is a game of chance, a card game, betting or a game on gaming machines hereunder.

7. The request for issuing the decision referred to in section 6 should be accompanied by the description of a planned or implemented project, taking into account, in particular, the rules of its arranging, foreseen prizes, procedure related to selecting the winners and, in the case of a game on gaming machines, a technical test of a given gaming machine, conducted by an entity authorised to perform technical tests of gaming machines and gaming equipment, and in the case of games arranged via the Internet - the opinion confirming the rules and adequacy of the software used for the purpose of arranging such games. The minister competent for public finance may require that such documents are submitted by a party also in the proceedings conducted on an ex officio basis.

7a. The decision referred to in section 6 shall not be issued if the nature of games on a given device has been determined as a result of control or procedural steps carried out in accordance with separate provisions by the National Revenue Administration bodies.

7b. The minister competent for public finance shall define, by way of a regulation, a template of the request for issuing the decision referred to in section 6, taking into consideration the need to ensure the uniformity of requests and the efficient implementation of tasks in this scope.

8. In order to improve the service of applicants and provide for fast proceedings, the minister competent for public finance may authorise, by way of a regulation, bodies reporting to it or supervised by it, to issue the decision referred to in section 6 on its behalf, simultaneously determining the local competence of authorised bodies and the scope of the authorisation.

Article 3. Arranging games of chance, betting, card games and games on gaming machines as well as conducting the activity in this scope is permitted under the relevant license, permit or notification.

Article 4. 1. Whenever in the Law reference is made to:

- 1) game centres - it shall mean:
 - a) a casino – as a separated place where cylindrical games, card games, dice games or games on gaming machines are organised under the approved regulations, where the minimum total number of 4 cylindrical games and card games organised and the number of gaming machines installed ranges from 5 to 70 machines,
